Vote May End Meat Walkout

Decision Will Be Known Soon

(By Associated Press)

The possible end of the prolonged meat strike and removal of a strike threat at International Harvester company plants were bright spots in the nation's industrial strife today.

Results of the vote by the striking CIO Packinghouse Workers on whether to end their 67-day-old strike were expected to be announced before the end of the day at the union's national headquarters in Chicago.

Herbert March, strike director, predicted the vote to end the work stoppage on company terms will favor return to all plants except Wilson and company. He predicted a close vote for returning to work at plants of three other major packers—Swift, Cudahy and Armour.

As the votes were being tabulated, national guardsmen continued to patrol strike-bound plants in Waterloo, Ia., and in Albert Lea, South St. Paul and Newport, Minn., scenes of recent disorders.

In Waterloo, national guardsmen with fixed bayonets stood prepared to protect non-striking workers going to their jobs at the struck-bound Rath Packing company plant. One picket was killed Wednesday night and the guard was called after a riot.

100,000 VOTE

The estimated 100,000 striking packinghouse workers voted last night on acceptance of a nine-cent hourly pay boost, retroactive to the March 16 strike call; retention of all seniority rights and arbitration with the companies on possible discharge of workers accused of unlawful acts during the strike.

The union struck in support of demands for a wage hike of 29 cents an hour, rejecting company offers of nine cents. March said the union recommended strikers to vote against returning to Wilson plants because the company proposed to reserve the right to re-employ all strikers and said it would not re-hire workers charged with unlawful acts. About 8,000 workers are normally employed at the struck plants operated by Wilson.

In Washington, John L. Lewis was asked by the soft coal operators to resume contract negotiations which broke down Wednesday. The United Mine Workers president did not immediately reply to the invitation.

Officials of the International Harvester company and the CIO Farm Equipment Union signed an agreement in Chicago to extend contracts to June 28. The working agreements cover 40,000 employes in 12 plants.

Building Hit By Locomotive

ZANESVILLE—(AP)—A runaway freight locomotive jumped a spur track today and ploughed into a one-story brick building of the Oil Well Supply company. No one was injured.

E. Cardi, a Pennsylvania railroad employe, was taking the engine out of a roundhouse in the central part of town when he discovered the airbrakes had failed.

As the locomotive picked up speed on an incline, Cardi jumped off. The engine rolled 400 yards before hitting a cinder barrier. The company estimated damage to its building at $5,000.

Oregon Polls Active Today

PORTLAND, Ore—(INS)—Oregon voters went to the polls today in the most momentous primary in the state's history—one that may decide the political fate of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Harold E. Stassen.

The bitter battle between the two rivals for the Republican presidential nomination overshadowed other races. A close vote is expected.

The winner in the Dewey-Stassen contest will receive the state's 12 votes in the GOP national convention, on the first ballot at least. But more important is the prestige that will go to the victor.

Mansfield Safest City In State

Mansfield has won the Ohio Traffic Safety contest for 1947, Earl L. Reeb, state highway director, informed Mayor Roy W. Vaughn by telegram today.

Reeb said Mansfield took first place among cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population group.

During 1947 Mansfield reported 1,278 traffic accidents, 187 involving personal injuries and two resulting in deaths.

"Congratulations of the state highway department, co-sponsor of the contest along with the Ohio Traffic Safety contest committee, go to you (the mayor), other municipal officials and the local residents," Reeb said.

TO RECEIVE AWARD

An award will be made in the near future.

Mansfield took second place in the same contest in 1945.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said "It is quite an inspiration to win this award, especially to the persons who have strived so hard to make Mansfield a safer town.

"The local traffic patrolmen, the school teachers, the Chamber of Commerce safety committee and especially the schoolboy patrolmen deserve a big pat on the back.

LAUDS SCHOOLBOYS

"They (the schoolboy patrolmen) have had a great deal to do with Mansfield's winning the contest inasmuch as the greatest reduction in traffic injuries was made among children of school age," Boals said.

In 1946, although there were 279 fewer accidents, there were 24 more accidents involving personal injuries and four more deaths, than in 1947.

Judges in the contest were Gordon W. Rosencrans, of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce; Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the state highway patrol; D. K. Finley, secretary of the Columbus Safety council; Charles D. Viberts, director of safety and education of the Ohio State Automobile association; and Paul Landis, superintendent of health, physical education, recreation and safety of the Ohio department of education.

Officer Shot; Maid Held

Shooting Occurs In Police Office

NEWARK, N. J.—(UP)—A police captain was shot to death with his own service revolver today during a pre-dawn rendezvous with a red-headed barmaid in his police station office.

Police seized Mrs. Ann Powers, 39, as she ran from the office of Capt. Thomas J. Rowe, 56, a 33-year veteran of the Newark police force, after the shooting.

Six hours later, police quoted her as saying:

"I don't know why I did it."

Rowe was shot a few minutes after he and Mrs. Powers had entered the precinct police office together at 3 a. m. (EST). Police Chief John Haller said the two apparently had met after Mrs. Powers had finished work in a Newark bar.

Two policemen heard the single shot and rushed into the office. One of them, Lt. Henry Ville, caught Mrs. Powers in his arms as she ran out the door.

Ville said he then heard Rowe gasp:

"She got me."

He was wounded in the abdomen.

After hours of questioning, police said Mrs. Powers had admitted the shooting. They said she made the oral confession calmly but had wept occasionally during the questioning.

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Two fifth-graders who studied flying in comic books confessed to the state patrol last night they piloted a stolen plane almost to Texas.

The grade-school aviators are Jimmy Bodard, 11, and Robert Ronald Peterson, 12. Both families are prominent here. Robert, the largest, weighs 85 pounds.

Ticket Sales Pushed

Pupils Eagerly Await Band Concert

While a group of Mansfield young women worked hard today to sell tickets for the U. S. Navy band concerts tomorrow, eight Senior high school band members awaited eagerly for the matinee concert Saturday.

The Senior high musicians will play with the Navy band at the matinee concert in the Senior high auditorium. Besides, they will ride with the Navy men in a procession tomorrow afternoon from Central park to the high school.

Pupils chosen to play with the famed musical organization are James Young, Ruth Schaaf, Phil Rogers, James Spitzer, Robert Catlett, Phil Pendelton, Dick Butts, and John Schmitt-Matzen.

Members of Zeto Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority, sponsors of the band concerts, redoubled their efforts today to sell tickets for the two performances. Ticket sales have been lagging, sorority members said.

AIDS TB FUND

The sorority is bringing the band to Mansfield for the benefit of the new county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Tickets are on sale at booths at the Richland Trust company and O'Neil's and at Tawse's and the Smart's and Thomas Music shops.

The band will be given an "official" reception at Central park at noon Saturday.

The welcoming committee will be headed by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison. They will join the parade which follows before the 55 band members leave for the school auditorium for the afternoon performance.

Backs State Labor Laws

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Labor Relations board ruled today it can not hold union shop elections in 19 states which have bans or regulations covering the subject.

The board issued an administrative order making the ruling. It is based on a majority opinion of three of its five members.

The agency said the Taft-Hartley act "in effect removes all federal restrictions upon existing and future state legislation prohibiting compulsory unionism . . . even where such legislation may affect employes engaged in interstate commerce."

The Taft-Hartley law bans the "closed shop" but allows a union shop if a majority of workers vote for it.

In a closed shop, only union members can be hired. In a union shop, the management may hire a non-union man but he must join the union after his employment.

The NLRB had no estimate of the number of workers who would be unable to obtain union shop elections under the ruling.

The states are Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Wisconsin.

It's Getting To Be An Old Story

Living Costs at New Record

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The government reports that the cost of living is still going up and reached an all-time high in April.

The bureau of labor statistics announced that retail prices of goods and services purchased by moderate-income families in large cities advanced 1.4 per cent between mid-March and mid-April.

This rise in the cost of living more than offset a decline noted between January and March and brought the BLS consumer price index on April 15 to an all-time high of 169.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

The price index on April 15 was 8.4 per cent higher than a year ago, 27 per cent above June, 1946, and 71.7 per cent over the August, 1939 level.

A 2.8 per cent advance in retail food prices accounted for most of the rise in the cost-of-living between March 15 and April 15. However, prices of other goods, rents and services also jumped 9.5 per cent.

The food price increase brought the BLS food index for large cities to 209.9 per cent of the 1935-39 average—only one per cent below the record high of mid-January, 1948. Meat, fresh fruit and daily prices led the advance.

Clothing prices rose about 0.1 per cent during the month while house furnishing dropped the same amount. Prices of miscellaneous goods and services advanced 1.1 per cent.

Cities to Ask Legislative Fund Relief

Vaughn Named To Committee

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn was named yesterday as one of a committee of eight members of the Ohio Association of Cities to call on Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to "implore him to call a special session of the legislature to deal with financial problems of municipalities.

The association decided at a meeting held in Youngstown yesterday to send Mayor Charles P. Henderson of Youngstown, along with the association's executive committee to Columbus May 28 to put the proposal before the governor.

Mayor Henderson was added to the group because Youngstown's city finances are in especially critical condition, with heavy cuts in police and fire departments likely by next fall unless relief comes.

The same day the association will meet in Columbus with the Ohio League of Municipalities to consider a merger of the two groups.

Earl E. Hagerman, Dayton finance director, pointed out that the estimate of sales tax collections for this year was 91 million dollars and that it appeared that 140 million dollars would be collected. He declared:

"Even with the deduction of funds to meet the soldier's bonus, this means an undistributed net surplus of 40 to 45 million dollars is indicated. Distribution of this could solve the financial problems of many cities."

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn revealed today that the OAC will hold its August meeting in Mansfield on the 10th of the month. The group will meet in Mt. Vernon in June and in Lorain in July.

Six Miners Buried Alive

Rescue Crews Remove Bodies

DANTE, Va.—(AP)—Grim and sweat-streaked rescue crews early today brought to the surface the last of six miners killed last night after a roof section collapsed in the Clinchfield Coal company's No. 2 mine.

Tons of coal, earth and debris buried the miners alive as they worked in the mine tunnel four miles underground. There was no explosion.

Mine Dispatcher J. M. Smith said the roof collapse simply "blew the coal out and over the men working near it."

Four other miners, working some 400 yards away in the corridor, were injured, but only slightly, in the accident. They were brought from the shaft about midnight after four hours' entombment.

Hundreds of persons lined the mine entrance as the bodies were brought up by rescue crews working in relays.

The dead were listed by Smith as Euris Artrid, Arnold Vickers, Harold Park, Oakley Creger, Troy Phillips, and a miner named Kasnick. All were from the Dante region.

Dante is in Russell county, near the Dickinson county line, in southwest Virginia.

Smith said the corridor roof apparently had been weakened by over-excavation. It was in Corridor 19-L that the collapse occurred.

The six miners were working together, Smith said.

Stove Explosion Causes 4 Deaths

EATON—(AP)—The death toll of a kerosene stove explosion at the home of Leon Fitzwater near New Paris stood today at four. Fitzwater, 27, and two children, Wanda, seven months, and Howard, 3, died early yesterday.

What Went Up Couldn't Get Down

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Three-year-old Carl Hogue of Cleveland is going to stay off fire escapes from now on unless there is a fire.

Carl climbed a 40-foot fire escape to the roof of the Knights of Pythias castle on Cleveland's east side last night.

His father, Joseph, who was working on his car below, probably lost few years of his life when he spotted his son on the ramparts. He ordered Carl to stay put, climbed after him and then found he could not make it down with the boy. The two finally were rescued by firemen who were called by passersby.

Petitioners Want City's Time 'Fast'

Two More Requests Given to Council

Two more pleas to city council to put the city on daylight saving time were revealed today.

A petition signed by 217 persons who identified themselves merely as "taxpayers" asked council to authorize daylight saving time "at the earliest possible date."

The employes and management of the Mansfield Aircraft Products company, speaking also for Richland Aviation and the Sky club wrote Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, "It would help us to have better business relations with our customers and would satisfy our employes if council would put Mansfield on daylight saving time."

City council defeated a daylight saving proposal March 22 by a vote of 6 to 3. Since that time there has been renewed clamor for "fast time."

Councilman Harry Hollingsworth said Wednesday that he and his committee were going to look into the matter again and regardless of what action council may take, initiative referendum petitions designed to have the issue put before the voters in the November election would be circulated.

Several Mansfield plants have ordered their offices opened an hour earlier and closed an hour earlier so that they will be open the same period of time as cities in the area that are on daylight time.

Police End Cowboy Plan Of Five Boys

CHICAGO—(INS)—Five runaway boys from a Cleveland suburb were all set to play cowboy today except for the restraining hand of Chicago police.

The boys bought railroad tickets in their hometown of Lakewood, O., for Phoenix, Ariz., after one of them, Kenneth Byer, 12, had taken $6,000 from a secret hoard of his grandmother, Mrs. Tillie Kosman, a Lakewood tavern keeper.

While changing trains in Chicago, they bought cowboy boots and hats, dungarees, fancy shirts and wide belts blistering with rhinestones. About $4,500 was left when police caught up with them.

With young Byer, were four other Lakewood boys: Frank Blumel, 14; Stephen Petras, 17; Nick Nicklos, 12; and Lynn Schlegel, 12.

Police said they were being held, pending word from Lakewood.

Four-Day Conflict Near End

Jewish Forces In Retreat

WITHIN THE OLD CITY IN JERUSALEM — (AP) — The end of a four-day-old battle for old walled Jerusalem seemed to be in sight today.

Arabs claimed last night their forces controlled 80 per cent of the old city, seized by their forces or abandoned by the Jews.

The Jewish Haganah and Irgun Zvai Leumi had been driven back to a thin defense line along the west side of the Jewish quarter.

Midway of that line, they were holed up for a last stand in the Beit Yaacov or Hurva (ruin) synagogue, on a spot where Jews worshipped for 700 years and two earlier temples have been destroyed.

The Jews withdrew into that synagogue with Arab capture of the Tiferet Israel synagogue, Jerusalem's tallest structure, to the east.

King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab legion was at their backs, threatening to block escape. The legion had most of the Armenian quarter, west of the Jewish section. It was reported unofficially in firm control of Zion gate just below that quarter in the southernmost of Jerusalem's 400-year-old walls.

LEGION ATTACKS

In the new city outside the walls, the legion had thrust from the northern limits down Ramallah road to the Damascus gate on the north side of the old city and last night was trying to clear the Jews from Allenby square opposite the gate.

West of there legion gunners pushed back Jewish defenders from the north side of the Mea Shearim quarter, including central prison, the law courts, the Russian cathedral and the Abyssinian church.

Arab artillery covered the Ramallah road push. The legion bombarded the Sanhedriya Jewish quarter to the northwest of Mea Shearim, threatening the Arab right flank. Arab volunteers shelled the Hebrew university on Mount Scopus to the northeast, aiming for Haganah snipers.

On the southwest side of the city, Haganah still held the railroad station but was reported to have withdrawn from the government printing building.

Jewish mortar fire aimed near the Damascus and Herod's gates in the north wall caused Arab civilian casualties yesterday in the old city. Arabs held nearly everything north and east of the walls except Mount Scopus Jewish positions.

In the old city's Jewish quarter, the easternmost Midrash Porat Yosef synagogue and Misghab Ladach hospital have been pounded into virtual ruin by legion artillery fire, but no sacred structures outside that quarter seem to have suffered much damage.

Gob Defends Island Girls

HONOLULU, T. H. — (INS) — Sailor Eugene Hickman, whose mother asked the Navy to transfer him because he's got a Japanese sweetheart, said today that the girls of the islands are "a lot more understanding" than those back home.

"They don't expect or demand so much from a guy as most of the pampered gals I knew in Ohio," the 18-year-old second class seaman said.

And, he said, he thinks he can prove it to his mother, Mrs. Samuel Hickman, in Columbus, O., who wants him to break off his romance with 21-year-old Betty Namihara, a pretty Japanese-American waitress.

"I think it's about time mainland families of servicemen in the islands began trying to understand these things," Hickman said. He added that most of his buddies' wives or girl friends are Japanese-Hawaiian.

"We've found the island girls know as much and maybe more about the American way of living than most mainland girls," Hickman said. "They are American citizens and they've been taught the same thing in school that I was taught."

Segregation Issue Slows Legislation

Southern Dems Pushing Fight

WASHINGTON—(INS) The senate fight over army segregation spread to the House today as new delays beset the administration's draft legislation and threatened to postpone a final vote until almost the close of the session

Southern Democrats in the House revealed that an attempt also would be made there to prevent elimination of racial segregation in the army.

Rep Williams (D-Miss) said he had discussed the matter with Sen Russell (D Ga) and said "We intend to try to put some kind of a safeguard in the draft bill"

Segregation of whites and Negroes is still in effect in the army although it has been abolished in the navy Russell declared however that President Truman intended to eliminate it in the army also His amendment would bar army authorities from compelling a white inductee to serve with Negroes No compromise is in sight in the Senate over Russell's amendment

Meanwhile House Republican leaders postponed floor action on the draft bill until June 1 at the earliest

There are indications that a further postponement might be ordered if the senate has not acted on its bill by then

Congress is slated to adjourn or recess by June 19 in order to permit Republican members to attend the GOP national convention which opens June 21 in Philadelphia

Although the House draft bill was reported out by the armed services committee May 7 it still has to be cleared to the floor by the rules committee before a vote can be taken

The Senate bill tentatively is slated to be called up late next week after disposal of legislation affecting displaced persons However the agricultural appropriation bill may be taken up in the Senate ahead of the draft

2 Boston Pitchers Walk 18

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Boston Red Sox, the Cleveland Indians and 43,158 fans were still dizzy today from the walkathon at the Cleveland stadium last night

In a presentation which might be well-named "the Burlesque of Bases on Balls," featured by two Boston wildmen, 18 Tribesmen reached first base via the free ride, tying the major league record set by the Detroit Tigers in 1916

Incidentally the Indians won the game 13-4, although they rapped only eight hits off Mickey Harris, the starting pitcher, and an 18-year-old rookie named Maurice McDermott

The Indians drew seven passes from left-hander Harris in just one and one-third innings Mc Dermott another southpaw, staggered through the remainder of the contest giving up 11 more

Every man in the Cleveland lineup, including Pat Seerey scored at least one run, and every man except Jim Hegan walked twice The Redskins' backstop managed to get only one free trip to first.

Manager Lou Boudreau provided the "punch" of the tilt with a home run over the left field fence in the fifth Thurman Tucker and Allie Clark were the only Tribesmen to register two hits off the Bostonians

The Indians scored in every inning except two They tallied twice in the first frame on one hit, five times in the second on three hits, two in the fourth on one bingle, one in the fifth on one safe blow and the last two markers were racked up in the sixth on one more single

The Bosox meanwhile were able to tally only four runs and eight hits off the offerings of Bob Lemon, who chalked up his fourth win against two setbacks

The McCarthy men scored twice in the third and added another pair in the fourth Lemon allowed only three hits in the last five innings

After the Cleveland groundkeepers fill the grooves left by Indian baserunners—or walkers—the Tribe will meet the Red Sox again today

Brooklyn Beaten for Fifth Straight Time

Cincy's Fox Rips Giants By 3-1 Tally

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Home sweet home has a strange tune in Brooklyn this year. Jeers instead of cheers greet the Dodgers after five straight defeats in "friendly" Ebbets field.

No longer does a return to Flatbush guarantee success. First the Boston Braves and then the feared St. Louis Cards swept series in the Flock's own backyard where the Dodgers are supposed to be toughest

Despite the Dodgers' depth in bright, young players who can run with the speed of light, they find themselves with an inadequate pitching staff.

CASEY BUMPED

Hugh Casey was bumped again yesterday in his second straight relief appearance when the Cards slugged their way to a 13-4 slaughter. The loss was charged to starter Joe Hatten who was battered to all corners in a six-run fifth inning. Casey and Clyde King also were treated roughly while Howie Pollet tamed the Brooks with nine hits for his fourth straight success

As a result of the day's firing in Ebbets field, the Cards have a 2½ game lead over the runner-up New York Giants. Brooklyn is sixth. Card Manager Eddie Dyer was ejected by Umpire Art Gore after a bitter protest over a Casey pitch that hit Catcher Del Rice in the head. Earlier Casey had hit Whitey Kurowski with a pitched ball.

LOSE GROUND

The Giants lost ground when they were hogtied by Cincinnati's Howie Fox, 3-1. Fox, an early season "bust," hurled a neat six-hitter for his first win of the year. He started the game-winning rally with a single off loser Dave Koslo.

Elmer Riddle continued his remarkable comeback by blanking the Boston Braves with four singles while Pittsburgh clubbed Red Barrett and two successors for 17 hits in a 13-0 romp. Ralph Kiner hit his ninth homer and two doubles to ease Riddle's path to his fourth victory.

Chicago's Cubs rapped three Philadelphia pitchers for 14 hits in a 5-3 decision over Walt Dubiel.

Cleveland opened up a game and a half lead in the American by drubbing Boston, 13-4, at night after the runnerup Philadelphia A's bowed to Detroit in the afternoon, 4-2.

BASE HIT RATION

Freddie Hutchinson rationed the slumping A's to five hits while Detroit banged Carl Scheib, Bob Savage and Charley Harris for 15 blows.

With Joe DiMaggio enjoying a field day, the New York Yankees gave the Chicago White Sox their daily whipping, 13-2. DiMag hit two homers, a triple, double and single for five hits in six trips driving in six runs.

The St. Louis Browns hopped all over Washington for a 17-7 night verdict to move into fifth place, passing both the Senators and Red Sox It was the highest run total of the year in the league

Ohio Fishing Prospects Good

By JAMES DAILEY

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Fishing in Ohio held high promise for the week end today as optimistic reports poured in from the conservation division's fish and game field men around the state.

All but one of the 15 waterways surveyed showed "fair to good" fishing available, and at Buckeye Lake the white bass were running —which meant sensational fishing at that central Ohio spot.

Ray H. Riethmiller, fish management agent for the central district, reported that the white bass normal run hit a peak about three weeks ago but they now have started a second run probably due to the recent spring rains.

He said the bass, which are mostly mature and about 12 inches long, can be found in abundance in the lake's main feeder stream.

Riethmiller said the fish are travelling in schools and the best way to locate them is to watch for shad runs. Wherever the shad are found, he said, the white bass school is nearby.

The most popular bait for bass are shiny spinners with a piece of bacon or pork rind, or live minnows. The fish agent urged all anglers to come out before the run subsides. The daily bag limit is 20, but there's no minimum length restriction or closed season at Buckeye.

The only spot of those surveyed this week which had poor fishing was Griggs dam on the Scioto river, where fishermen averaged about one fish every two hours

The fishing was rated good at Charles Mill, Seneca Lake, Buckeye, North Reservoir, Indian Lake, O'Shaughnessy dam, Richwood lake, Pleasant Hill reservoir, and New Lexington reservoir. More than one fish per hour per angler was hauled in at these spots

At Leesville lake, Lake Alma, Jackson lake, the Shade River system and Clouse lake the fishing was only fair in that less than one fish per hour per fisherman was taken.

Indian Lake in the western part of the state near Bellefontaine was a veritable paradise for anglers as they averaged over two fish per hour each.

Crappies made up the biggest part of the catch with over 60 per cent of the haul being of that species. The rest were about equally divided among bluegills, white bass, catfish and perch.

At Seneca lake the 1 22 fish per hour catch consisted mostly of crappies at 95 per cent and at Leesville bluegills predominated at 70 per cent. Almost the entire catch at Pleasant Hill reservoir was made up of crappies. At New Lexington reservoir the catch was divided about half-and-half between bluegills and sunfish

Clouse lake, a 43-acre body of water just south of Somerset, was just opened to public fishing and had a pretty fair week wtih an average of almost one fish per hour being caught, most of which were crappies.

High School Stars In State Title Goes

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—Ohio's high school athletes will be off and running today in quest of state championships in a two-day four-ply spring sports program at Ohio State university.

Buckeye titles in track-field, golf and tennis will be decided by Saturday sundown, and the baseball laurels will be alloted the following week end.

Today's schedule called for opening rounds in the 36-hole team and individual golf tournament, first round matches in the doubles and singles tennis play, and preliminary qualifiers in six Class A and six Class B track events.

Tony Tarbert of Cincinnati Walnut Hills will try to repeat as tennis singles king, but may strike a snag in Bud Igle of Cincinnati St. Xavier, who teamed a year ago with Jack Collins to take the doubles title. Fourteen other district champions or runners-up will be arrayed against them. Sixteen teams are in the doubles race, too.

Cleveland Central is expected to have tough opposition from Springfield's well-rounded Wildcats in the race for the Class A cinder crown won a year ago by the Clevelanders, while defending champion Poland, Lockland and Oak Harbor are expected to fight it out for the Class B title.

MINUS TALENT

Sandusky, the 1947 golf king, is minus much of the talent which copped the crown, and the race looks wide open in the links division at the Ohio State course. The four-man team race goes through its first 18 holes today, with the windup tomorrow.

All finals in the track-filled show, the No. 1 attraction, are scheduled Saturday. Preliminaries, paring the field down to championship size, were booked today in the 120 and 220-yard hurdles, the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, and the half-mile relay, in both Class A and Class B.

About 1,000 boys will be in action in the four-sport program in which the 21st baseball, 22nd golf, 29th tennis and 41st annual track-field titles will be decided.

Invades Ohio State

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Iowa's baseball team invaded Ohio State for the first time since 1943 today for the first of a two-game series on the OSU campus diamond.

Fire Destroys Bellville Barn

BELLVILLE—A fire of undetermined origin burned the barn and a tool shed to the ground on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Myers, five and one-half miles from Bellville, just off the Possum Run road.

The fire was discovered about 2:30 p. m. Thursday by members of the family but it was too late to save the buildings.

Friends and neighbors formed a bucket brigade and kept the house and other buildings wet so the high wind would not spread the flames. They were able to remove the cattle from the barn in time but the wheat, oats, hay and straw were destroyed.

Insurance partially covered the loss. No estimate of the damage was available.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Galion to Ask Recovery of $10,800 Down Payment on Diesel

Permanent Injunction Granted

Decision Called 'Complete Victory'

GALION—City Solicitor George H Davies plans to contact the Fairbanks, Morse company of Chicago in an effort to recover the city's down payment of $10,800 toward the purchase of a diesel.

Davies' action follows the permanent injunction granted Thursday morning, by Judge C. U Ahl of Crawford county, restraining the city of Galion from completing the contract with the Chicago firm for the purchase of a diesel at a cost of $108,000 The former city administration had planned to use the diesel as an auxiliary generating unit at the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant

Kenneth M. Petri, Galion attorney who filed the suit to block the purchase of the diesel, said "The decision of the court represents a complete victory for those who think the purchase of the diesel unit is not in the best interests of the city."

Davies will try to reclaim the city's down payment on the ground that the contract between the company and city was voided by the court decision and possession of the payment by the company is illegal

The purchase of the diesel was authorized in a resolution approved March 18, 1947, by city council, during the administration of Mayor William Amann

The present city administration, headed by Mayor H. H. Hartmann, has expressed disapproval of the purchase of a diesel unit.

Petri, in his action, had claimed that purchase of the diesel was illegal because the action to advertise for bids for the unit was by council resolution instead of ordinance, and not published according to regulations, that the measure was declared an emergency but did not state why the emergency existed (a requirement of state law), and no specific person was named to enter into a contract with the diesel manufacturing company

The former administration was represented by E. J. Myers and Robert Spurlock of Bucyrus, and the present administration by George H Davies, city solicitor.

Illness Changed Course of Events

Hopkins Was FDR's Presidential Choice

NEW YORK (NNS) The late Harry L. Hopkins was President Roosevelt's first choice for the presidential race in 1940 - before FDR himself decided to run for a third term.

This was disclosed today in the first of a series of articles appearing in Collier's magazine, and written by Robert E. Sherwood, author and dramatist, to whom all of Hopkins' secret papers were turned over.

Hopkins was the New Deal's unofficial No. 2 executive for many years, and for a time lived at the White House.

Sherwood, in his first article, writes that in an "extraordinary private conversation" in the White House in 1938, Roosevelt vetoed seven potential Democratic presidential candidates and told Hopkins that he (Hopkins) would be elected.

Roosevelt stated his opposition to the following candidates:

Cordell Hull, Henry A. Wallace, James A. Farley, Harold Ickes, Paul McNutt, Frank Murphy (then governor of Michigan), and George Earle (then governor of Pennsylvania).

"The only apparent reasons noted (in Hopkins' personal notes) were that Ickes was too combative and Hull too old," Sherwood says.

"Roosevelt considered Farley 'clearly the most dangerous' of the candidates. Roosevelt objected to Farley on two main counts: his opposition to the New Deal and his attitude toward foreign affairs."

According to Sherwood, the Hopkins' notes show that Roosevelt reviewed Hopkins' political liabilities.

They were, namely that he had been divorced and that his health was bad - and ended by expressing the 'belief that Hopkins would be elected and would do the best job as president of any of those in the running."

Roosevelt appointed Hopkins secretary of commerce on Christmas eve, 1938, as part of his strategy to get Hopkins elected.

But during the next year and a half, a near-fatal illness made it impossible for Hopkins to run for the presidency—even "drained him of all personal ambition," Sherwood writes.

"There is no question that Roosevelt did all he could that was a very great deal—to publicize Hopkins," Sherwood says.

"In September, 1938, at the time of the Munich crisis, when the storm clouds were heavy over Europe, Hopkins was on the train with Roosevelt in Minneapolis listening to a broadcast of a speech by Adolf Hitler in Nuremberg.

Roosevelt, who understood German, knew the true meaning of these hysterical threats. He sent Hopkins to the west coast to make a secret survey of the aircraft factories to build warplanes."

Years later, according to Sherwood, Hopkins wrote:

"The President was sure then that we were going to get into war and he believed that air power would win it."

Hopkins always made it "his job (and) . . . his religion to find what it was that Roosevelt really wanted," Sherwood says, "and then to see to it that neither hell nor high water, not even possible vacillation by Roosevelt himself, blocked its achievement."

"Harry is the perfect ambassador for my purposes," Sherwood quotes Roosevelt as saying. "He doesn't even know the meaning of the word 'protocol.' . . . When he's talking to some foreign dignitary, he knows how to slump back in his chair and put his feet on the conference table and say, 'Oh, yeah?'"

In July, 1941 (a month after Hitler's assault on the Soviet Union), Hopkins first met and conferred with Stalin in Moscow and established a working relationship between Roosevelt and Stalin.

2 Firms File For Damages

Two damage actions for a total of $3,580 were filed in Richland county common pleas court yesterday by the Pearl Assurance company of Philadelphia and the Warwood Transfer comany of Wheeling, W. Va.

The suits, outgrowth of a traffic accident in Richland county Nov. 25, 1946, were filed against William C. Griffis, Crestline.

Pearl Assurance company seeks a judgment for $1,182 and the Warwood company asks $2,397 in damages to an autovan owned by the Warwood company. Griffis was named as the driver of a car involved in the accident with the van.

Another Richland countian, Francis Gump of Shelby, was named defendant in a $225 damage suit filed yesetrday by the State Automobile Mutual Insurance company of Columbus. The petition charges that Gump was negligent in that he permitted combustible lacquer to be kept in his auto repair shop while working with a cutting torch on the insured auto of Clifford Hollenbaugh of Shelby. The insurance company alleges that sparks from the torch ignited the lacquer, causing a flash fire which damaged Hollenbaugh's auto and depreciated its resale value $225.

The first mechanical process for the manufacture of felt is believed to have been discovered about 1820.

MODELS—Mrs. B. J. Marshall, who was named model mother of year by New York society of models, holds her 16-months-old daughter, Michele, also a professional model.

Henry Willing To Visit Joe

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) If it would help the cause of peace, Henry A. Wallace would visit Premier Stalin.

Replying to a question from the audience at his speech here last night, the third party presidential candidate declared:

"If I was confident that by going to Moscow and talking to Stalin the cause of peace would be forwarded, I certainly would go."

Telegraphers Vote For Union Shop

BALTIMORE —(AP)— The Fifth district office of the National Labor Relations board announced Thursday that AFL Commercial Telegraphers union employes of the Associated Press had voted 423 to 11 for a union shop under the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations act.

NLRB officials here said they believed the consent election was the first of its kind on a nation-wide basis under the Taft-Hartley act.

GOP Committee To Meet Monday

Six Shelby High Students Chosen to Attend Boys' State

SHELBY - Six Shelby high school boys have been named to attend the Buckeye Boys' State sponsored by the American Legion to be held June 12 to 22 at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

For the last several years, five boys have been sent to Boys' State but the number was extended to six when the Legion raised the high school student limit from 800 to 850.

The program is to acquaint the boys and let them participate in the practical course in good government.

The boys being sent to Delaware are David L. Heck, James E. Evans, William M. Herlihy, Harold L. Phillips, Kenneth C. Soushin and Carlos F. Tucker.

Local service clubs sponsoring the boys include Rotary, Advertising, Better Business, Co-Operative, the American Legion and the Exchange club.

The Exchange club is the new organization sponsoring a boy. A fee of $30 per boy is charged to sponsors.

An average grade of "C" or better and preference for civics public speaking and debate are the qualifications set forth for selection.

Characteristics of self-reliance and personality, are also considered.

G. W. Depler, chairman of the Americanism committee of the O'Brien post, American Legion, was in charge of selecting the boys.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD NEWSPAPER

Sports News --

There is no "closed season" in the Mansfield News-Journal sports department.

From the start of the year to the last day, every year, the sports writers of this newspaper, coupled with the top writers and sports columnists of the nation, bring news of the local, national and international sports scene to their readers.

Like the general news department, the News-Journal sports spotlight is focused primarily on activities in Mansfield, Richland county and its adjoining area. The field of activities it covers is broad and all-inclusive. Besides features and news stories, readers receive a liberal assortment of selected columns, pictures and features.

The scope of the sports coverage of the News-Journal is shown in a partial list of events about which readers are told, such as—football, baseball, basketball, track, boxing, golf, tennis, ice skating, softball, rifle and pistol matches, trapshooting, archery, bowling, boating, swimming, wrestling and badminton in the amateur categories, plus deserving professional sports, including boxing, wrestling, baseball, football and automobile racing.

In addition, readers are furnished with an outdoors column, covering news of field and stream sports, and reporting of such events as banquets, sports clinics, booster clubs, field improvements, etc.

The newspaper does more than just report activities in the sports world, too. It promotes them, stressing clean, wholesome recreation for youngsters and adults. Particular emphasis is being placed on junior baseball this summer.

The News-Journal has sponsored 12 annual football banquets, the biggest sports event of its kind in Mansfield each year. Last fall, this event attracted more than 500 persons. The banquet is featured by presentation of the News-Journal's most valuable player awards to the outstanding member of the Senior High and Madison High teams.

Other events sponsored directly by the News-Journal in the interest of promoting wholesome sports and recreation include the Silver Skates ice skating carnival, a class "A" golf league, head pin bowling tournament, tennis tournament, and co-operation in the widely-known Mansfield relays, including a trophy presented each year to the team scoring the greatest number of points.

In addition to its sports news reporting and its promotions, the News-Journal sports department takes readers behind the sports scenes, enabling them to decide what is good for youngsters in sports, and keeping the public posted on what is going on here and elsewhere, so that Mansfield may be kept among the leaders in cities of its class and larger.

The sports department is another outstanding reason why . . .

Dean Indicted In Rice Case

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Homer Jack Dean, 37, a former bartender was indicted Thursday on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Elmo Rice last Dec. 10.

Dean, being held on a forgery charge in Huntington, W. Va., was accused both of premeditated murder and murder during attempted robbery. Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett said an effort to extradite him would be made.

Dean has contended that he was not in Columbus at the time the real estate dealer was shot to death. Rice's body was found on a country bridge after he left his home to demonstrate his automobile to a prospective buyer.

Teachers Aided By School Pupils

PARIS, Ill —(AP)— Paris high school teachers are in line for a boost in salaries through efforts of students who built and furnished a four-room bungalow.

A pound of coal converted into electricity will keep a 100-watt electric bulb going more than seven hours.

GI Housing Investigated

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— A young government attorney has started what he believes may develop into a nationwide crusade against such alleged real estate practices as "under the counter" payments in home sales to veterans.

In the last two weeks, Assistant U. S. Attorney Elliott T Finkel has secured four grand jury indictments against contractors and real estate agents, charging them with irregularities in sales of homes to veterans under the G. I. bill of rights.

The Justice department and the Veterans administration are watching the proceedings closely The Veterans administration in Washington yesterday announced a nationwide campaign against real estate agents who demand "side-payment" before completing sales to GI's.

In the four cases under indictment, Finkel says, veterans paid about $2,000 each for the "privilege" of buying their homes.

Finkel has received nearly 100 complaints and he says almost every one he investigates turns up two or three more

If the job grows much larger, Finkel says he intends to ask FBI aid.

Chiang Raps Corruption

NANKING —(INS)— Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek took the oath of office Thursday as the first constitutional president of China and pledged himself to stamp out corruption within his government

In his inaugural address, China's "strong man" also renewed his long-standing vow to crush what he termed the "communist rebellin" and thereby end the nation's civil war.

The generalissimo called for a "policy of magnanimity" in conclusion of peace treaties with China's ancient enemy, Japan, as well as with Germany.

Immediately following Chiang's inauguration in Nanking's national assembly auditorium, Gen Li Tsung-Jen, took the oath of office as constitutional vice president, to which he was elected over the president's opposition.

Use of National Guard In Strike Called Salute to Obscure Cop

THE CALL on the national guard to suppress violent insurrection at packing plants in Minnesota is an inferential salute to an obscure cop named Dahlin, the assistant chief of police of Kansas City, Kans.

The CIO has been an incorrigible enemy of the people of the United States ever since it was organized under conditions exactly like the anarchy recently re-enacted in Minnesota and Kansas City, Kans

In Minnesota, when goons of the meat packers' union blockaded plants, beat up citizens on lawful business, and upset automobiles, Governor Youngdahl encouraged them with a remark, lawless in spirit, about the unimportance of the rights of "scabs."

Youngdahl is a political satrap of Harold Stassen. His attitude, thus expressed, is in the Hitlerian tradition of Governors Olson and Benson early in the New Deal. They enjoyed the patronage of F. D. Roosevelt because they discriminated in law between the friends and the opponents of the ruling machine.

When the CIO's goons blockaded the Minnesota packing plants, Governor Youngdahl gave them their political cue to make merry in the traditional CIO way. He belittled the rights of good citizens to go to their jobs unmolested, with a crack about the triviality of assaults on "scabs."

Now, in all such CIO disorders, the non-striking workers are not strike-breakers but Americans, admirable for their moral and physical courage. They refuse to quit their jobs at the order of the lowest elements in the plant and the New York organizers. A non-striker obviously is the civic superior of any public official who calls him a "scab."

The Minnesota pickets flouted all the definitions of picketing offered by the CIO's own lawyers. Picketing is by them reduced to the exercise of the rights of free speech and of assembly. Courts held that three pickets could adequately preach the message of a corporation of unioneers, which is what the CIO is, and that personal abuse of citizens on lawful errands was not inherent in that right. The right of assembly always has been subject to license and restraints.

Violence followed the sneering remark of Stassen's governor about "scabs." Sheriffs and the police, no better than politicians who appeal to mobs for campaign funds, offered the spectacle of the law in flight, with court writs crumpled in the hands of cowardly deputies.

In Kansas City Kans., the goons incited the poor slobs employed in the local plant to try manhandling the cops. A judge wisely called attention to existing laws against assault, disorder, unlawful assembly, vandalism and other common practices of the CIO. No injunction was necessary, he said. Law enforcement was.

The next day the police dispersed a mob. The boss goons, always aloof from actual risk, tried to reorganize the rioters from headquarters across the street. Mr. Dahlin, the assistant chief, explained a nice legal justification. He was set upon as he tried to pay an official visit to the headquarters. That made it necessary for him and his men to protect themselves.

In the confusion, several persons lost their balance and fell down. Several suffered abrasions and bruises. In fewer words, the assistant chief of police and his cops kicked hell out of them and tossed the joint out the windows. That is exactly what any community would expect good cops to do if a gang of bank robbers were pillaging a town under orders from a criminal post of command.

Frank Murphy and Felix Frankfurter notwithstanding, the CIO has no more right to riot and demolish property than the National Geographic Society. The police should always use enough force on criminals in the act to stop their crimes and arrest them. They should never use too little. In case of doubt they should always use more than enough. If the criminal dies that is a risk he knowingly assumed.

Buys Watch, Finds Deal Is Swindle

Woman Victimized By Fake 'Salesman'

City detectives today warned residents to be on the lookout for an alleged watch salesman who swindled a Hanna road housewife out of $7.25.

Mrs. Ona Yates reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday that a man who said he represented a Cleveland concern had sold her a wrist watch on Tuesday at her home.

She said she gave the man $7.25 as a first installment on the watch and agreed to make weekly payments which he said he would collect in person. The man, she said, receipted the first payment with the signature "Salesman Roch."

Mrs. Yates said a neighbor had also bought merchandise from the salesman.

Around midnight Wednesday two men claiming to be policemen came to her home and stated that the watch was "hot" (stolen) and that it would have to be turned over as evidence.

Mrs. Yates said she was alone in her home at the time and that two other men were waiting outside. She said she relinquished the watch to the men who made no effort to repay her the $7.25 down-payment. Mrs. Yates told deputies the three men were riding in a light blue car.

Two Trials Postponed

Two criminal cases, one charging armed robbery and the other statutory rape, were continued to June 10 yesterday by permission of Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch on requests from the defense attorneys for "more time to prepare the case."

Continued were the trials of Wallace Ray Black, 24, of Columbus, charged with rmed robbery in the $248 robbery of the Wade and Roberts restaurant at Orchard park, and that of Albert Elliott, 18, 335 Newman street, charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl.

The motions for continuance was signed by Black's attorney, J. V. Will, and Elliott's counsel, H. Eugene Ryan.

The continuance set Black's trial three days after that of Donald DeVere Bowman, 29, of Cleveland, also indicted in the Wade and Roberts robbery.

Meanwhile, a 16-year-old County Line road youth was cited as a delinuentby Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer and bound over for jury hearing next week. The youth, formerly listed as 18-year-old, is charged with having illicit relations with a 16-year-old girl.

100 'Teen-Agers Enjoy Square Dance

Approximately 100 teen-age sons and daughters of Moose lodge members and their friends surprised their chaperones last night by requesting square dancing at the first "teen dance" held in the Moose ballroom.

The teeners were welcomed by Lodge Governor Edmund T. Pelasky who told them to enjoy themselves. Lloyd Hughes, past governor of the lodge, officiated.

The Moose members and Frank Miller's band were both pleased and amused at the 'teeners request and Harry Cline, lodge member, hurried to fulfill their wish. Cline gave a short instruction lesson and soon was calling for the square, round and cake walk dances.

The dance was such a great success that the 'teeners asked breathlessly for another. Again the lodge hurried to grant the request and announced that another dance would be held June 17.

The dance will start a little earlier so that Cline will have an opportunity to give a little more instruction to the 'teeners and to teach other boys and girls who missed last night's fun.

Two Injured In Accidents

MILLERSBURG — Two men were admitted to Pomerene Memorial hospital early today with injuries suffered in two separate accidents.

Orin Deadrick of Coshocton was admitted at 1:45 a. m. after his car hit a concrete bridge three miles south of here on Route 76. He suffered a possible fractured skull, a broken jaw, and a broken right arm. His condition was described as "not good at all."

Orlo Sturges of Fredericksburg was admitted shortly after midnight when he lost control of his car on a hill and got involved in an accident. He suffered a fracture of both collarbones, several broken ribs and internal injuries. His condition is described as "fair."

The youth won the right to attend the 4-day national congress when he was selected winner after competing in an oratorical contest with seven other students.

Quash Suit, Firm Asks

A technicality in the filing of the Mansfield board of education's $31,653 damage suit against the Mastran Construction company of Youngstown was cited by the defendant in a motion, filed yesterday in common pleas court, "to quash the service made on the Mastran company."

The board's petition charged that the Mastran company refused to sign the bidding bond offered with the construction bid on the West Fifth Street school.

The motion, filed by the company's attorneys, Arthur W. Negrin and Murray A. Nadler, contended that the board's action, charging failure of the Mastran company to enter into a written contract, is "not properly brought in Richland county because of the fact the defendant is a resident of Youngstown and cannot be served in Richland county." Youngstown is in Mahoning county.

Meanwhile, the Continental Casualty company, bonding agent for the Mastran company and co-defendant in the board's suit, answered the petition denying all allegations.

Shiloh Man Given Suspended Sentence

Raymond Nelson, 30, of Shiloh, R. D. 2, was given a suspended sentence of 90 days in the county jail, when found guilty today in juvenile court of non-support of his three children.

The sentence was suspended on condition he pay $30 per week for the children's support and an additional $10 weekly for rent and furniture payments.

2 Boys Hurt In Traffic

Two boys were injured, neither seriously, in separate traffic accidents last night in the northern section of the city.

Jack Slatton, 12, of 272 Harker street, suffered a 10-inch wound in his right thigh about 5:30 p. m. when his leg struck the end gate of a truck as he tried to pass the vehicle on his motorbike at Fifth and Mulberry streets.

The youth was treated at General hospital and released. The truck was driven by Vincent W. Kennedy, 127 Indiana avenue.

Jerry Allen Neer, 8, of Shiloh, suffered right knee injuries at 6:15 p. m. yesterday when he ran into the side of a truck driven by William Bordner of the McMahon Supply company, police said.

The accident occurred on North Main street near Chestnut street.

Chief Calls Police Unit

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab has called a meeting of the auxiliary police for June 15 at the residence of W. G. McCready on West Fourth street road.

The first regular meeting of the group was held Tuesday night when 15 members of the former Civilian Defense unit appeared. No action was taken by the group, but the members discussed the type of work they would be called upon to do and how the group would be organized.

The unit would aid uniformed police in case of emergencies to prevent looting, control traffic and generally keep good order in the city.

The chief said that he hopes to have at least 50 of the former corps of 165 at the next meeting when "lieutenants" will be named and officers elected.

$20 TAKEN FROM DESK

SURPRISES HER—

Mrs. Denny Skelton, 53 Lamberton street, became an aunt today, but she didn't know about it until she received a telephone call from The News-Journal. Her brother-in-law, Comedian Red Skelton, became a father for a second time last night. His wife, Georgia, a former actress, gave birth to a seven-pound boy shortly before midnight in a Santa Monica, Calif., hospital. The Skeltons have a one-year-old daughter. Mrs. Denny Skelton expressed surprise on hearing the news. "It's news to me," she said. Her husband, who was a brother of Red Skelton, died five years ago.

ANOTHER TREE—

Central park had another tree today, transplanted from another city park. An ash tree was planted at the northcentral portion of the park early in the day. The tree was carried on a truck with a specially-built derrick which lowered the tree slowly into the opening. The tree roots were surrounded by a huge clump of the original earth. The planting was in charge of the Funk Brothers company of Jeromesville.

Two Girls Receive Awards

Ohio Editor Talks to Class

Seventy Madison high school seniors—36 girls and 34 boys—received their diplomas last night at commencement exercises in the high school auditorium.

Scholarships for outstanding work during their school years were awarded to Edna Rissler and Juanita Shaffer. The girls will attend Ashland college.

Supt. Olan LaRue of Madison schools presented the scholarship to Miss Rissler and Mrs. Richard Bailey, president of the Madison Ken club, gave Miss Shaffer her award.

Miss Shaffer's scholarship was the award which is annually revealed for the first time at the graduation ceremonies and comes as a complete surprise to the winner.

A. W. Elliott, editor of the Ohio Magazine, told the graduates that between their graduation and when they become 33 years old they will be forming the foundations of their futures.

REACH PEAK AT 33

"When you reach the age of 33," Elliott told the seniors, "you will have reached the peak in your lives and will then know whether you will be successful.

"Many great men and leaders of history were about 33 when they were most successful," he said. "Alexander the Great, Caesar, George Washington and Jesus were a few who reached their greatest recognition, followings, and acclaim at that age."

The Madison high girls' and boys' ensembles sang contrasting selections. The girls' ensemble offered a stirring presentation of "Ave Maria" and the boys sang "Who's That Talking At My Door."

Barbara Roberts delivered the salutation and Jo Ann Betz who delivered the valediction received the honor pin from Principal Wayne E. Miller.

The audience applauded Herbie Eldridge, star athlete and honor student, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Clifford Culler who sang "I Heard a Forest Praying." Both are seniors.

The senior boys and girls smiled happily as Herschel Roberts, president of the board of education, presented them with their diplomas and congratulated them on their "night of nights."

Fund-Drive Questionnaire Brings 25 Quick Replies

Widespread interest in a survey of Mansfield's fund-raising campaigns was indicated today by the quick replies received to a Chamber of Commerce questionnaire.

The questionnaire, sent to 1,000 persons and groups, asked if such fund raising drives as those for cancer, polio, tuberculosis and crippled children should be incorporated into the annual Community Chest campaign.

Twenty-five of the replies arrived with the first mail today and Chamber officials said they expected 100 before the day's end. They said no information on the trend would be announced until more of the questionnaires were returned.

They expressed some surprise at inquiries regarding the organizations that now benefit from the Community Chest. There are 11, as follows:

Boy Scouts, Dental clinic, Girl Scouts, Friendly House, Hospital bureau, Milk fund, Salvation Army, St. Vincent de Paul society, Visiting Nurses, YMCA and YWCA.

TB Association Can't Comply

The Richland County Tuberculosis association said today that it "will not and cannot" be a Community Chest agency.

In a statement released by Mrs. Margaret Adams, executive secretary of the Richland County TB association, the group explained that the Richland County TB association is federated with the national and state tuberculosis and health associations and has a contract with the state department which outlaws incorporating its drive with other fund raising campaigns.

"Christmas seals have been sold for 41 years," the statement said. "Eighty per cent of the money raised stays in the county to fight the disease that killed 20 persons in Richland county last year.

"Five cents of every dollar goes to the national organization for research and other activities and 15 cents goes to the state, part of which is refunded if the local group lives up to their contract. This year $903 was refunded."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE EIGHT MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1948

"A blending of new conveniences and older comforts" is presented as the architect's aim for modern homes—but the price is thus far being kept a close secret.

The question, "What is news?", becomes even more confusing when it is noted that an item is hurried here all the way from London to tell us that Princess Margaret Rose has the measles.

Strikes Will Not Bring Down Prices

IN THE MIDST of such inflationary prices as have been reached it is quite understandable that pressure groups should see no further than to demand another round of wage increases sufficient to balance the rise in living costs. Prospective home buyers, for instance, find no residential properties available at under double reasonable value—which would require monthly payments far above conservative budgeting of moderate income.

Then, too, the items of food and clothing, in families which include several children, attain costs which, except in higher income brackets, make it impossible to put aside any savings for such emergencies as all workers encounter from time to time.

It has become evident that successive wage increases for various organized minority groups offers no permanent remedy for the situation that has been allowed to develop, as such procedure penalizes those who are required to keep within the confines of fixed incomes and who are consequently deprived of essentials of comfortable living.

If, by some touch of magic, a 30 to 50 per cent reduction in living costs could be made generally applicable on a specified date, then there would probably be no serious objection to a comparable cut in wages—as the dollar has little meaning except in terms of purchasing power.

This is impracticable, however, due to the "complexities of modern life," and the next best thing—if a disastrous depression is to be avoided—is to move toward a gradual scaling down of production costs, retail prices, profits and wages, so that the desired lower level can be attained without going through a period of actual hardship for millions of people which would result from sinking into and eventually emerging from such a depression as followed the 1929 economic debacle.

One large industry has already had the temerity to suggest voluntary acceptance of a wage cut by its employes, but this was met only by the rejoinder that the proposal was "fantastic," while some other similar industries are either strikebound or are under strike threat because of wage disputes.

The fact that no balance has yet been attained between supply and demand—as with automobiles—accounts for the arbitrarily fixed high prices of some commodities, with no relief in sight until production attains sufficient volume to change this condition.

Mansfield To Welcome Navy Band

IT IS entirely fitting that Mansfield plans to extend an official welcome to the 55 members of the U. S. Navy Band when they arrive in Mansfield Saturday for two concerts. Not only do they represent a major arm of our national defense, but their reputation as musicians is so outstanding as to merit formal recognition in its own right.

Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority is to be congratulated on bringing this musical organization to Mansfield for two presentations of popular and classical as well as military numbers.

It is anticipated that Mansfielders will turn out in large numbers to greet the band as members of the audience, as well as meeting them "officially" in Central park Saturday noon.

Good Riddance of Old Custom

DO YOU remember the old-time, noisy Fourth of July?

Children got up at unholy hours, 3 a. m. or earlier if their parents would let them, and fired off torpedoes and cannon-crackers all day, the louder the better. Sensitive grown-ups looked forward to the day with dread, invalids had shattered nerves, and all too many adults and children were burned or even killed when they got too close to their dangerous toys.

Those days are gone and one man was largely responsible. He was Dan F. Pfahl, a Cleveland councilman. The Ladies Home Journal did more than any other one institution to bring home to communities the dangers of the old Fourth, with its thousand deaths and more than thousand serious accidents including hundreds of cases of total or partial blindness.

In 1908 Pfahl fathered an ordinance banning the sale of fireworks in the city. Other civilized communities, including Mansfield, copied the idea, and now the old noisy Fourth is a thing of the past in most areas. There is some bootlegging of fireworks, but on the whole community celebrations with evening fireworks under competent supervision are the rule.

This was one good old custom that was not so good.

Voluntary Lending In Russia

RUSSIA announces a 20,000,000,000 ruble loan to carry out the first post-war five-year plan. A novel feature is that it bears no interest, but lucky investors will get lottery prizes.

The loan is described as "voluntary." The Soviets use "voluntary" in a sense very different from ours, just as they use "democracy" differently. This loan is doubtless voluntary in the same sense that it is voluntary whether or not you eat.

This is the season during which tomatoes cost more per pound than a peck will cost later.

To be a good risk, be an early settler.

Game of 'Politics' Has Many Variations

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WHAT is "politics"? This inquiry is prompted by the pious assertions by the Republican majority on the joint congressional atomic energy committee that there is "no politics" in its decision to limit the terms of the Atomic Energy Commission to two years, instead of providing as President Truman requested for the regular staggered terms set forth in Congress' own law to assure continuity in this important agency.

Acting under the law, the President named David Lilienthal, chairman, for the five-year term, with shorter terms for the other four. There is no secret that the Republican leadership's plan for a straight two-year term for all is aimed at Mr. Lilienthal. They talked first of only one-year terms. The party now confidently expects to take over the whole government in the November elections.

That would bring an end to the Lilienthal term fairly early in a Republican administration so that he could be supplanted and someone more amenable to the Congressional leadership could be named.

This brings us back to "politics." Politics is the art of government. Under our system there are two major parties with a different philosophy of government in many respects—though occasionally there are periods when it's hard to tell the difference. But there has been a decided difference in the last few years.

Politics, as we have learned in those years if we weren't aware of it before, means not merely men practicing the art of government, but the influences which move them and shape policy.

One of the influences formerly very strong in government and politics, not only national but local, was the private electric utility industry. How powerfully it spoke in politics, how is used this power to fend off adequate regulation, and how it operated behind this protection to water stock and raise rates on inflated valuations and erected a pyramid of fictitious holding companies to siphon off rich profits was all exposed in the exhaustive investigation by the Federal Trade Commission that was started in the Hoover administration by order of Congress.

* * *

Opposed by Utilities.

IN THE Roosevelt administration Congress acted to eliminate the shameful abuses that were disclosed by passing regulatory legislation. It also adopted a new formula, what President Roosevelt called the "yardstick formula," whereby public power projects were to be used for competitive purpose to compel private utilities to keep down their rates.

The creation of the Tennessee Valley Authority, TVA, furthered this purpose. But its scope was much broader, for it demonstrated how waters of a great river system could be controlled to develop a whole region, not only by the introduction of cheap power for farms and for industrial development but also to provide protection from floods for farm lands and to open up new farm lands—in short conservation of our natural resources.

It also introduced a new concept in the democratic process which was regional, decentralized administration, independent of Washington, responsive to the needs of the people in the area in the best democratic fashion.

Now, after these preliminaries, we come back to David Lilienthal.

He was chairman of the TVA board. He directed in the general public interest and in a most businesslike manner this great enterprise so that it was highly successful.

For that he won the undying enmity of the utilities. They were part and parcel of the forces that opposed his confirmation originally as AEC chairman.

They don't want to see firmly established in control of atomic energy the public viewpoint that he holds which is shared by other members of the commission. They want to get their hands on this amazing new source of energy, just as they did on electricity, even though Congress has declared a policy of public control.

Within the next five years we will be getting to the point where its practical utilization will be in sight, and meanwhile the commission will have to make policy for its utilization. The utilities don't want Lilienthal to have anything to do with that.

The electric utilities are now waging a highly-financed campaign to break down existing statutes passed by Congress to protect the public in the field of electric power. They have found the atmosphere of this Congress very friendly, as has been demonstrated by tests here and there. Limitation of the Lilienthal term is another example of this friendliness.

That's the sort of "politics" that's involved, and we might as well understand that and face it frankly.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Monday, May 21, 1928

W. C. Mansfield, general secretary of the YMCA, returned from state convention in Columbus.

Fred Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, 412 Springmill street, sang over station WEAF in New York city.

Miss Ina Balliet returned to Oberlin after spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Balliet.

Waterworks Superintendent Sherman Weaver and Street Superintendent Charles Sweet moved into new quarters at city building, occupying an annex to the office of Clerk of Council William Beer.

Dr. W. James Acomb returned from Toledo where he has been receiving dental instructions.

I wonder how far Henry the First could get if he was trying to get his Model T on the market as a low-priced auto today. He would have to get more for Lizzie than they used to get in his day for the Mercedes, Simplex or Renault.

The Ford company says it thinks the consumer is fed up with the whole routine and "would welcome a major company and a major union working together in the public interest." But, shucks, trying to bring back consideration for the public interest these days is like trying to bring back the pug dog, the bustle and the family album.

Don't Fight Too Hard

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU NEVER know when you'll bump into truth in the strangest places.

Take those Bumsteads, for example. Dagwood and Blondie in person, America's most popular Bellhaffs. Just try keeping house without them. It can't be done. But if you think that Grinding Out Grins is a soft snap for the fellow who's doing the grinding, you're in for a big surprise.

For 17 years Chic Young has been turning out this immortal pair. Seventeen years—quite a stint. Wonder how it's done? Jack Alexander spilled the dope in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

But prepare for a surprise. For Dagwood has snapped off his beloved couch and is dishing out philosophy instead.

What makes a comic strip click, you wonder.

Mostly Moans, says Mister Bumstead. Parking your shape in that same old chair and hanging on till an idea hatches.

"Only don't hang on too long," he also warns. "If an idea takes too long to jell, ditch it before your reading public beats you to it. The best ones come quick and easy. If they don't, you'll find yourself fighting too much—the way a duffer fights a golf ball."

Don't fight your hunches too long or too hard—pretty good advice for all of us in these hectic days. Don't push a notion so long that it loses all its snap.

Think of the time and energy you've wasted over some job that went stale on you.

Strike while the iron's hot.

Grab while the grabbing's good.

Give while the Green Light is beckoning. Or junk it and start again.

That's Bumstead's secret. Will it work for you? Why not try it?

Senate Seat Reward For Big Contribution

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It will be interesting to see what the Senate does about the seating of William Feazel, appointed to the vacancy left by the late Senator Overton of Louisiana by Governor Earl Long.

Two aspects of Mr. Feazel's career are interesting. One is the large amount of cash he contributed to Governor Long's campaign. Second is a grand jury proceeding held by Assistant Attorney General John Rogge in 1939 showing that Feazel was involved in a big gas deal with Governor Dick Leche, who served a jail term in connection with another matter.

Louisiana politics say that Mr. Feazel was by all odds the largest contributor to Gov. Long's campaign—donated over $200,000. Louisiana, incidentally, isn't bothered about limits to state campaign contributions.

In the past, the Senate has been cranky about large amounts of money influencing senatorial elections. Senator Smith of Illinois was denied a seat when his campaign contributions went over $100,000. Senator Lorimer of Illyinois was not seated for the same reason. Senator Newberry of Michigan finally resigned from the Senate while his colleagues were probing his large campaign gifts, and Senator Vare of Pennsylvania was denied his seat when his gifts ran around $200,000.

All these were Republicans. Now comes a Democrat who was not running for office but helped handsomely to put a governor in office. Then that governor turns round and put his chief monetary benefactor in the Senate. A Republican Senate may want to think this over.

On top of this is the fact that when the justice department was probing the Louisiana scandals, John Rogge unearthed the fact that $125,000 had been paid by United Gas Improvement Corp., an Electric Bond and Share subsidiary, to Tom Hill, a big New Orleans gambler, who in turn passed part of the money on to Governor Dick Leche, part to Louisiana's new senator, William Feazel, and kept part for himself.

Reason for this unusually large payment by a big corporation to three interesting Louisiana figures never was revealed. For about that time Roosevelt threw cold water on the Louisiana probe. However, the present Republican Senate may want to continue the unfinished story of Louisiana where the justice department left off.

Modest Mike Monroney.

IT WAS like Congressman Mike Monroney of Oklahoma never to breathe a word about the fact that President Truman offered him the job of secretary of agriculture. However, he did—just after Clinton Anderson resigned.

It was also like Monroney that he turned the offer down. His refusal was on the very simple ground that he didn't know enough about agriculture or the farmers' point of view.

"All my life," he told Truman, "I have spent defending the consumer and thinking about his point of view. Therefore, I just wouldn't be a good man to champion the farmers."

So, without saying a word to anyone, Monroney, one of the most respected men in Congress, has gone back to the job of battling for his constituents.

* * *

Tydings' Brother-in-Law.

WHEN Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, rose on the Senate floor to oppose the confirmation of Oklahoma's Jess Larson for the thankless job of war assets administrator, he claimed he had absolutely no personal interest in the matter. Among other things, Tydings supposedly had no interest in American Potash, the company which Larson ruled against when it sought to buy the government's Kalunite plant in Utah.

However, here is what Tydings did not tell his fellow senators: Tydings' brother-in-law, former Brig. Gen. John M. Eager, happens to represent the Heyden Chemical Corporation, a large stockholder of American Potash.

Furthermore, it was Eager who actually signed the letters on behalf of American Potash protesting the fact that it did not get the Kalunite plant.

Yet Tydings said he had no personal interest in the matter.

Perhaps in Maryland a brother-in-law isn't considered personal.

Washington Calling

Broader Than Intended

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE HOUSE of Representatives has approved a piece of legislation the like of which has never been seen under the American form of government with its guarantee of freedom to speak, freedom to worship and freedom to vote. It would give to the attorney general of the United States powers so broad that he could regulate and coerce the thought of millions of Americans.

In its first test, the Mundt bill won approval by more than seven to one. It got the votes of those very representatives who talk loudest against regimentation and the power of the state.

In this and two following columns, I want to analyze that bill in relation to the problem of freedom versus security. The Stassen-Dewey debate has helped to put the issue in the forefront of public interest.

But even so, most Americans, distracted by the problems of living in a period of soaring inflation, are hardly aware of what is at stake. It is high time, in my opinion, that they understand the issue.

In the haystack of fact and fiction that the House un-American activities committee has put together, the pattern of the conspiratorial communist intrigue is clear enough for anyone to see. It has been spelled out many times before. Perhaps most clearly and authoritatively in the report of the Canadian Royal commission that investigated the conspiracy directed by Soviet agents to steal secrets from the government in Ottawa.

Such a conspiracy is illegal, immoral; it shatters all the relationships of faith and confidence that hold a society together. Therefore, says Rep. Karl Mundt of South Dakota, there ought to be a law.

Mundt's intentions are clear enough: This is an evil and we can abolish it by law. He and his colleagues put a great deal of time and study into drafting the Mundt Bill.

In my opinion, that bill threatens the foundations of the house of freedom. It gives a grant of almost dictatorial power that could be used not merely to check the communist conspiracy but to end all independence of thought in this country.

* * *

Threat to Freedom.

THE BILL, in Section 4, provides that it shall be unlawful for any person "to attempt in any manner to establish in the United States a totalitarian dictatorship, the direction and control of which is to be vested in, or exercised by or under the domination or control of, any foreign government, foreign organization or foreign individual." It goes on with even more specific language and provides penalties including imprisonment up to ten years.

As Rep. John Carroll of Colorado pointed out in the debate, this would include the Communist party, and therefore the bill outlaws the party even though its sponsors say it does not do so. Harold Stassen said the same thing in his debate with Governor Dewey.

Under the bill, "communist-front organizations" must register with the attorney general and publicly make known, in a variety of ways, the fact that they are communist-front organizations. The bill sets up four tests to determine whether a "front" is "under the control of a communist political organization."

The fourth test is "the position taken or advanced by it (the front) from time to time on matters of policy." If it fails to pass "some or all" of the tests, then "it is reasonable to conclude" that it is a front organization and therefore subject to the law.

This conclusion can be reached if the attorney general decides that the front's views and policies are in general adopted and advanced because such views or policies are those of a communist political organization, a communist foreign government or the world communist movement . . . (previously defined)."

One of the "methods commonly used" by the communist political organizations, the bill sets forth, is "the inciting of economic, social and racial strife and conflict." It is not hard to see how the power granted to the attorney general could be stretched to cover any organization or individual advocating social or economic change of any kind.

Here, in my opinion, is the essence of the danger. The power granted the attorney general would not have to be stretched very far to cover organizations proceeding in a wholly American way to advocate reforms that might not be popular with the majority or with powerful minorities. Judicial review is provided, but this remedy would come after an organization had been publicly branded as communist.

THERE seems to be some doubt whether Cupid or communists got one of our men in Moscow. . . . Both are excellent propagandists.

But the news that a sergeant had deserted for love amazed many former privates. . . . They are certain it was not their sergeant.

But it just shows what a career man in the state department has to contend with these days. . . . Anything up to apologizing for somebody else's wedding.

Still . . . I don't know that a sergeant who has eloped with a beautiful girl should be written down in the books as "Lost to enemy action." . . . I say if we must put up with spies let them be pretty.

Quadrennial Pastime.

Amid the universal flux, it's always consoling to find one thing which does not change. Many Americans, who have not the slightest intention of voting for him, will be gratified to know that Norman Thomas will again be running for the presidency this year. The Socialist leader was nominated by his party at its Reading, Pa., convention for the sixth time in a row, which puts him one up on Eugene V. Debs. Incidentally—a fact which may surprise his largely Manhattan following—Thomas is an Ohioan.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Four hours later the boss tapped the lad on the shoulder and said sarcastically, "How are you doing finding that phone number?"

"I'm doing fine," said the boy. "I'm up to the F's already."

Joys of Convalescence

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I walked across the thick grass of the lawn in my bare feet and felt the springy warmth that pulsed and flowed about me. Parallel with the gable of our old red barn, a thick honeysuckle hedge shuts off the barnyard view from the house. The edge is strewn with open dandelions and violets.

This morning the honeysuckle was in bloom—masses of pink and white that moved and swayed in the mild west wind, the fragrant petals making a rhythm as soothing as classic music. I stood and ached with the joy of it, knowing that, like all sweet melodies, it would pass from me all too soon. This perfume would not last another day, but now it rode far and fast upon the undulations of the moist west wind. Like all the goodness of the earth, its sweep and flow lifted and bore along a man's spirits, and made him thankful and happy.

A rainbow spanned the dark clouds across the morning sky and sifted blue and gold over my neighbor's grazing herd in the hillside pasture. I stood amazed at this rare pastoral scene, that "disturbed me with the joy of elevated thoughts where dwells the light of setting suns." So much glory, on a single morning, in a man's own backyard, seems hardly possible. God is not far-off, but very near, "sweet as the murmur of the meadow brook or the rustle of the corn."

* * *

Friendship expresses itself so variously! And there is so much said just with simple deeds. A few of the joys of convalescence . . . a small glass of clear green mint jelly, made by a neighbor, who offered it with the remark that she had gathered the mint herself last year, and thought perhaps I didn't have any, and would like some.

A bushel of red apples left on our porch while we were in town buying seeds . . . a basket of mixed fruits sent in by a neighboring Community group . . . flowers, potted plants and trailing vines, a box of luscious pecan candy, a "five-cent" whistle made of a willow stick, with the caption, "Keep your whistle wet and the strength to blow it!"

And today, from UTAH, an order for this column weekly in a newly formed Farm, Home, and Garden page. And always the kindly letters and greeting cards that make a man smile and wonder what he ever did to merit so much good feeling. Thank you, friends. I'm doin' all right. Now we'll change the subject.

Bridal Headdresses Important

By BETTY CLARK
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Most girls, no matter how flamboyant their choice of costumes for street or ordinary formal wear, choose only the most ladylike fashions in which to say their "I Do's."

This year there is a "new look" in bridal headdresses, as in everything else. But still simplicity reigns whether the bride selects a romantic Spanish mantilla or a tulle bonnet in which to make her vows. Be sure to select a headdress which will complement your hairdo whether short, medium or long.

Hair is shorter than it was dur- ing last year's bridal season. But few brides want a really short hardo which may be completely concealed by the veil. Although the hair should not be too long and trailing down below the neckline of the wedding dress, there should be enough of the hair showing to complete the look of femininity which every bride tries to achieve on her wedding day. (To the nape of the neck is a good rule.)

The most popular bridal hair styles, reports the American Hair Design Institute, are the simple, parted-in-the middle coiffures which can be worn either page-boy fashion or with soft curls in back.

The girl who already has cut her hair short and can't do anything about it can wear several of the brushed forward styles to relieve the severity.

If you need a permanent wave by all means arrange to get on several weeks before the wedding day. The bride should certainly look familiar to her friends and husband-to-be and many a last-minute permanent has been a disappointment if not a shock.

Such things as startling hair arrangements or a new shade of hair dye are other taboos. Everybody wants to see the bride gay, happy, and unadorned with artificial embellishments. No bride will get criticism on her wedding day if she sticks to the simplicity formula. But if she deviates from this path, she is inviting unpleasant comment on the most important day of her life.

CLASSIC CHARM . . . Medium length hair is waved smoothly, turned under to give appearance of greater length. Worn to flatter it is the romantic mantilla headdress designed for the June bride by Mary Goodfellow.

SOFT WAVES . . . of this short hair takes an open crowned bonnet of white panne trimmed at the side with a huge silk rose. Peg Fischer, the designer, suggests it be worn without the veil for summer formal occasions.

NEW LOOK BRIDE . . . Long hair is curled in closely at the nape of the neck, waved softly over the temples by the American Hair Design Institute. Bonnet of white tulle, transparent horsehair is designed for the budget bride.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, May 22

THE sidereal operations emphasize the rigid need for calmness, self-ontrol, all forms of prudence and circumspect conduct, if losses, miseries, disappointments and frustrations are to be avoided. This applies to all the interests, ties, obligations and activities, as the most ambitious objectives are at stake. Reckless, erratic, passionate tempestuous moves could prove ruinous, devastating to the most cherished desires. Pride egotism could offend superiors.

Those whose birthday it is may be the cause of their own defeat, failure, detriment and unhappiness, since a disposition to erratic, reckless, wayward or wild impulses may find unhappy reactions in all its affairs and contacts. Egotism, overacting, passionate or offensive conduct could alienate all friendly interests, especially displeasing to those in influential places. Much depends upon discreet and tactful well-ordered activities and behavior.

A child born on this day is probably temperamental, wayward, rash and overzealous, to its detriment, forfeiting friendly interests of those disposed to assist unless given early training and discipline.

INSTANT FROSTING

When summer is in the air, it's wise to be prepared for unexpected guests. A helpful new aid for the hospitality shelf is a prepared instant frosting that needs only the addition of hot tap water and a few stirs to produce a delicious cake topped or fondant candy. One 4½ oz. package in strawberry, vanilla or chocolate flavors will cover top and sides of an 8-inch cake layer or 18 cup cakes. It's an easy way to transform plain Jane slices of store cake into festive treats.

Barberton Lady Lost 38 Lbs. Without Dieting

Mrs. K. Fish, 379 Van St., Barberton, Ohio writes, "When I started using Rennel I weighed 193 pounds. I now weigh 155 pounds and have lost that sluggish tired out feeling which I had for sometime. Since using Rennel all of my friends praise the difference in my appearance and my sister is also using it since seeing what it has done for me."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on the genuine Rentel. —Adv.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Wallace Wants to Disarm U. S. Only

If Generalissimo Stalin is as much of a political realist as he is a military realist he must know that Henry Wallace's open letter could not become the "concrete program" for a peaceful settlement of our differences.

Wallace proposes a general reduction of armaments, "outlawing all methods of mass destruction," that is to say, strategic air power. He proposes to stop "the export of weapons by any nation to any other nation," that is to say, any form of lend-lease.

He has nothing to say about the size of the Red army and the satellite armies of Eastern Europe.

No wonder that, on first thought, his proposals were so attractive to the generalissimo. But on second thought Stalin will have to admit that they are too good to be true.

The Wallace program, though Wallace may not realize it, would leave the Red army supreme and unopposed on the Eurasian continent. It is not a program for general disarmament. It is a program, more naice than it is ingenious, for the unilateral disarmament of the non-Soviet world.

WOULD GAB EUROPE

Instead of redressing the balance of power, which is essential to the negotiation of any true settlement and to its maintenance, the Wallace program would, if we were so silly as to adopt it, leave Russia paramount throughout Europe and Asia and leave the United States isolated in the western hemisphere.

Russian military power consists of some 20,000,000 men of military age, recruited by conscription, under unified command, capable of marching into all the disputed areas of Europe and Asia. They are armed with deadly weapons, deadly enough to have defeated the flower of the German army. But they are not "weapons of mass destruction." They are machine guns, artillery, tanks, tactical airplanes —weapons which would not be "outlawed" by the Wallace program.

The Russian military power cannot, as a matter of fact, be disarmed. It is, not in "armaments." It is inexhaustible reserves of soldiers. These soldiers can be withdrawn into the Soviet Union. They can be demobilized and sent back to the farms and factories. But that is all.

There is in reality no such thing as Russian disarmament. There is only Russian demobilization.

The United States and the western nations, on the other hand, have no great mass of military power. They are separated by the ocean.

The military power of the non-Soviet world is in its armaments, which are capable of striking at long range—in complicated and expensive engines and machines which take years to manufacture, which only the United States can, in fact, manufacture in large quantities.

The non-Soviet world can, therefore, be disarmed. Indeed it becomes disarmed whenever the manufacture and replacement of its engines of war is stopped. Then, while it might take Russia three months to remobilize fully it might take the United States three years to re-arm fully.

For this reason, there is no acceptable basis of settlement in a program which could at best bring about a partial and temporary demobilization in Russia and would surely bring about a long disarmament in the west.

The basis, therefore, of any discussion which could lead to a genuine settlement is not the abandonment but the completion of an American program of re-armament and of military assistance to western Europe.

CONGRESS WATCHFUL

There has been fear expressed that the Russian "peace offensive" is designed to influence Congress to cut down appropriations and to postpone the draft. Perhaps, but we must assume that Representative Taber and his colleagues will not be hornswoggled that easily, and that they will see that what has made the Kremlin so interested in talking is the growing strength and unity of the western world.

But if a redressment of the balance of power is indispensable to negotiations, it is at the same time imperative that we should try to make it clear to ourselves and to the Russians what is the basic issue that has to be settled. This we have not yet done directly, explicitly, and affirmatively.

The issue is whether Europe is to be partitioned into a Soviet and an American bloc, or whether the European nations are to become sufficiently united to be an independent power in the world—friendly to both Russia and America but not the satellites and clients of either.

If and when genuine discussions begin, intimate, frank and thorough, that will be the central subject of the discussion. It is a subject which Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin would at least have known how to discuss, however difficult it might have been even for them to reach agreement.

The problem now is to find men competent to discuss it and to create the conditions under which they could begin to discuss it.

For the moment, all that can be said is that though the atmosphere is bad, though the statesmen are tired and irritable, and each disposed to go on playing his own phonograph record, there is throughout the world, in Russia, in America and all over Europe, a rising popular demand for statesmen who will seek the answer, no matter how long it takes, no matter how often they fail.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves: instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, billiousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Write for reference and booklet "What Your Neighbors Say." Satisfied patients in over 200 cities, towns and villages.

Nearly 700 Get Diplomas In City, County Schools

Record Senior High Class To Be Graduated June 2

The largest class in the history of Senior high school—384 strong and 24 of them World War II veterans—started their graduation activities this afternoon in the school auditorium when they participated in the traditional "Senior Day."

Sunday night, May 30, they'll attend baccalaureate services at the First English Lutheran church. Commencement will be June 2 in the old high school stadium.

"What Do You Want From Life?" will be the question put to the graduates May 30 by Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the host church. The services will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be open to the public. Rev. Mitchell will be assisted by Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner and Rev. A. F. Lindbeck.

Rehearsal for the baccalaureate procession will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday, May 30, at the church. Forty seniors from the MHS choir, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, will sing "Open Our Eyes" featuring senior soloists David Drumm, Jack Dickson, and Bill McGraw. The choir also will offer "We Thank Thee Lord."

AUTHOR TO SPEAK

Dr. Frank L. Eversull of Cincinnati, noted educator, author and lecturer will be the commencement speaker at ceremonies at 6 p. m. June 2. Dr. Eversull recently was with the U. S. Department of Education in the military government in Korea where he served as chief of colleges in the American occupied zone.

Supt. W. L. Miller's report to the board of education on Dr. Eversull was: "He has traveled extensively and comes to us with an excellent background on important questions of the day." The speaker's topic will be "The Highways We Take."

Invocation for graduation will be given by Rev. J. C. Melchert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. Supt. Miller will introduce the speaker and Norman Henry, class president, will deliver the salutation. Diplomas will be awarded by Herman D. Bishop, assistant principal at Senior high.

Two Lucas Pupils Win College Scholarships

LUCAS—Two college scholarships were among the 168 awards presented to Lucas school pupils at achievement day exercises this afternoon. Seniors returned from a three-day trip to Niagara Falls in time to receive their share of the honors.

Miss Vivian Au, valedictorian, was awarded a scholarship to Capital university and Richard Hartwig, with the highest grades among the boys of the class, won a scholarship to Rio Grande college. Miss Au also was given a medal by Herff-Jones company that gave medals to the co-salutatorians. Olive Briner and Mae McMillan.

Danforth Foundation books, annually presented to an outstanding girl and boy of the senior class, went to Olive Briner and Robert DeVore.

Rocine Roberts won the home economics award for her superior work in that department. Kenneth Barr won a similar award for agriculture. Harold Robinson won the agriculture award presented by the DeKalb Seed company. All are seniors.

FIVE GET PINS

Three seniors were among the five commercial students who received pins for their achievements —Norma Byerly, Mae McMillan and Vivian Au. The other two were juniors—Patty Heilman and Jean Partin.

Red Cross certificates were presented to the 11 senior girls who completed the prescribed course in home nursing and care of the sick —Anna Marie Applegate, Vivian Au, Olive Briner, Norma Jean Bucher, Norma Byerly, Delores Hawkins, Mae McMillan, Doris Mowers, Rocine Roberts, Glenna Rorick and Ruth Snyder.

Jill Woods and Maxine Barr, sophomores, received awards from the Mansfield Public library for their assistance during the book truck visits at the school.

Janet Russell and Dorothy Campbell received two certificates each by virtue of their high grades in the state eighth grade examination. They were for first and second places, respectively, in the county, and honorable mention in the state. Six others who placed in the upper 25% of the county were recognized: Delores Partin, Rose Little, William Umfleet, Burdette Barr, Patty Thompson, Martha Kurtz, James McGugin, William Harvey and Kathleen Kohler.

Exhibits in the various classrooms presented a colorful panorama of the respective courses of study for the year. Certificates of merit, presented to students in grades three through 12 who had "B" or better averages, testified as to how well the individual students absorbed their prescribed courses. There were 22 who received perfect attendance awards.

Because sunlight is bent in passing through water, the setting sun, seen by human eyes as dipping into the water, appears to a fish as high in the skies.

Rex Puzzled In Big City

PARIS, Ill. (AP) Rex, the Paris bus riding canine, is just a small town dog after all.

He has been riding buses in this city of 8,000 for years. This week, however, he accompanied his master on a 25-mile automobile trip to Terre Haute, Ind. There he jumped from the car and became lost in the city of 65,000.

A Terre Haute resident noted that his license was issued at Paris. He telephoned the Paris city clerk, learned the name of the dog's owner, and returned him home.

'Men of Erie' Contest For Pupils

Famous Trains and Trainmen

MEN OF ERIE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the fifth chapter in a serialization of "Men of Erie" One more chapter to the absorbing story of the founding of the Erie railroad will appear in the News-Journal this week. On the basis of this serialization, pupils of Mansfield Senior High and the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades of Madison High school may write an essay of 1,000 words or less in the News-Journal's "Men of Erie" contest. One boy and one girl will be chosen as winners The prize is an all-expense tour to New York this summer Deadline for entries is May 28.

CHAPTER V

Men and equipment make a railroad and from the opening of the line on Sept 23, 1842, the Erie had the best of both Engine 4, the famous Orange, and No 5, the Ramapo in that order pulled the first two trains over the completed line to Goshen Upon occasion after occasion, the Orange was to draw the first train into town after town in the midst of huge celebrations She led so many of these parades, that without her decorations, she must have felt positively naked

She was by far the most important of all the very early Erie locomotives, for she had the first cab Prior to her design, engineers were exposed to all manner of weather conditions Until 1848 the Orange ran swiftly and faithfully back and forth between Piermont and Middletown, and a little later through to Otisville and Port Jervis Then she was sent by river and canal to Binghamton, where she helped complete the Erie into that important town Again her career of pulling first trains into towns commenced, until the line reached Hornellsville, where she was sold to another railroad which used her for the same purpose.

The Orange had the Erie's first really renowned engineer, "Dandy Joe" Meginnis, who was the envy of every small boy in Orange and Sullivan counties In those days, and for years after, the social position of a railroad engineer was unique He was without peer, a man of romance and glamor. For this reason, a description of "Dandy Joe" is interesting, from the pen of the railroad enthusiast, Edward Mott

"He was dainty in his dress, even on his engine, and never appeared anywhere with oil or the grime of his engine on his hands or face He was a most competent man and his instincts were fine . . . Engineer Meginnis always had his choice of locomotives from new ones that came upon the road He quit the locomotive service in 1857 to take charge of the railroad dining salons at Port Jervis and Narrowsburg"

William Hall, Charles Sherman and Benjamin Hafner ("The Flying Dutchman") were famous engineers in their day on the Erie, but perhaps the most famous of them all was Horatio G Brooks

Brooks went out to the far west end of the road at Dunkirk in the autumn of 1850 with New York and Erie locomotive No 90, which was Hinkley-built in Boston Town The engine and Brooks came into Dunkirk by ship, and for the next 60 years or so his name was closely identified with the brisk little city

The 90, which was a hook motion locomotive, with independent cut-off, went into action at once on the uncompleted railroad, hauling iron and other construction materials for the track east of Dunkirk Brooks ran her, and when the last gap in the track had been closed, Brooks and the 90 hauled a passenger train on the Western division However, he was too valuable a man to spend all his life in an engine cab

Soon he was superintendent of the Western division, and later, master mechanic of the entire road In 1868, when the maintenance shop at Dunkirk was abandoned, Horatio Brooks took it over and transformed it into one of the great locomotive works of America At one time, it was turning out from 60 to 70 locomotives a month.

Erie locomotive No 499 deserves mention for many reasons, chief of which are the circumstances of its building Nothing could show the affection of the engineers of Erie for their road more than the subscription they made among themselves to construct 499. Built at the Cook works of the American Locomotive company at Paterson, N. J, it was exhibited at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 as the "Engineer's Engine" It only weighed 224,000 pounds as opposed to many modern steam locomotives which weigh over 900,000 pounds

When Frederick D Underwood became president of the Erie, he brought a progressive mind to the office The Matt H Shay was typical of his efforts to modernize the line Named in the best Underwood tradition after its engineer, this locomotive was the biggest in the world in its day It was capable of hauling 640 50-ton freight cars, equal to a train four and a half miles long It operated as a pusher east of Susquehanna over the stout Starrucca Viaduct and up the long grade to Gulf Summit on the way to Deposit

It is impossible to overestimate Erie 98 Today, this train is reborn every 24 hours in the great eastbound yards of Erie, at Marion, Ohio She is an advance guard of a mighty company of heavy duty fast freights on a railroad which derives nearly 90 per cent of its revenues from the carriage of goods. On the road she has first call, priority rights of every sort. At the end of the year she must show a 90 per cent on time record, for some of her cargo is perishable and the rest on a tight delivery schedule.

Famous Erie Trains, Men

Actually, she frequently becomes three and even four trains all of which run closely together, and which bear the same symbol, the mystic 98. Nowadays, Diesels take the western section of the run, and rob the heavy grades of much of their former terror. Steam takes over from Salamanca to Hornell where Diesels take over again for the run to Jersey City.

It is a far cry from the old Orange to the modern Diesels, yet the same basic spirit is behind every trip made. No longer are there railroad engineers like "Dandy Joe" and "The Flying Dutchman" who capture the public imagination. Instead the trains are run by a crew on a steady schedule with top flight equipment. Much of the old excitement and glamor is gone. In its place there is solid efficiency, recognizing the fact that excitement in railroading is based on uncertainty. Today, the Erie is confident and certain, and its service reflects this feeling.

The reason for the present efficiency may be traced largely to the incumbent president of the road, Robert E. Woodruff. He is a typical Erie man, to whom the good of the road always comes first. He went to work as a section hand on the old Mahoning Division when he graduated from Purdue university in 1905. He began a steady upward climb to the head of the company in 1941. A typical Erie man, in developing the service, he is developing his personnel.
